A message from the Wing Commander

I am taking this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation to all officers and airmen for the fine job you are doing.

In future years when you have occasion to turn through the pages of this book I am confident you will recall many pleasant memories of the events now taking place.

The high degree of proficiency and the professional competence you have achieved will be the source of great pride in your future years.

Congratulations to each of you on your willing spirit and sincere efforts to carry out the extremely important mission with which we are charged.

Joseph R. Holzapple

JOSEPH R. HOLZAPPLE,
Brigadier/General, U.S.A.F.
Commander.

JAMES F. WHISENAND

Brigadier General Division Commander

James F. Whisenand, born at Bloomington, Indiana, in 1911, is a graduate of the University of Illinois, where he earned a bachelors degree in architectural engineering and won the R.O.T.C. commission in the Corps of Engineers in 1932 prior to his graduation with the class of '33.

After taking in-grade flying training at Randolph and Kelly Fields in 1934 and 1935, he had his commission transferred to the Air Corps Reserve in 1936. In April, 1940, his appointment was confirmed as a Second Lieutenant in the regular Air Corps.

Following his 1939 graduation from the Instructors' Course in 1939, world events continued to increase in military concern until America entered World War II just two months after his promotion to First Lieutenant.

Serving as a fighter-pilot in the China-Burma-India theater, he rose in rank and responsible positions until he achieved the position of Operations Officer of the 312th Fighter Wing in North China and the rank of Colonel in 1944.

He then became Operations Officer for Tenth Air Force in Burma and was Chief of Staff of that organization when it returned to China in 1945.

After the cessation of hostilities, he was a member of the United States Strategic Bombing Survey team. During this period he also attended the Air War College and graduated from the Maxwell Air Force Base School in June of 1947. He later served as a faculty member of the college and headed its Strategy Division until 1950 as the Chief of the Special Projects Division.

Between 1950 and 1954 he was the Assistant Deputy Director of Plans as a member of the Air Staff at the Pentagon.

Leaving the Pentagon in 1954 he assumed command of the 388th Fighter Bomber Wing then stationed at Clovis Air Force Base in New Mexico. During this time he completed the jet training course at Craig A.F.B., Alabama, and the F86 gunnery course at Nellis Air Force Base.

A Command Pilot and fully qualified in jet fighters, he flew an F-86 on several legs of the "High Flight" route taken by the 388th Wing as it moved from New Mexico to Europe.

Promoted to his present rank of Brigadier-General in February, 1954, he remained with the 388th until leaving his Wing Command position to assume the title of Commander of the 49th Air Division at Sculthorpe in February, 1955.

Now a married man, General James and Mrs. Hazel Whisenand make their home at Sculthorpe, where he spends his nights and days in intense study and preparation to fill his Division's critical support mission to N.A.T.O., if our superiority in the air and therefore the peace of our world is ever again challenged.

Among his military decorations the General counts the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Legion of Merit with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Bronze Star and the Air Medal. In civil life he was a member of the University of Illinois Gargoyle Club and holds keys to the Greek Letter societies of Tau Beta Pi and Alpha Rho Chi.

JOSEPH R. HOLZAPPLE

Brigadier General Wing Commander

Joseph Randall Holzapple was educated at Bradley University in Peoria, Illinois, where he was born 41 years ago. His military service began at the Army Air Corps' Flying Schools at Randolph and Kelley Field.

In 1942 he was promoted to First Lieutenant and then to Captain fifteen days before his unit left for duty in England. As Operations Officer he was performing duties at Attlebridge within a few miles of his present station.

A special escort assignment moved the squadron to North Africa in November, 1942, where they remained to participate in actions at Tunis and Algiers. While in Africa he advanced to a command vacancy and then in September of 1943 he was promoted to the rank of Major. Eight days later he was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

He was with the 38th Group during its operations in support of beachhead operations when it hammered away at southern Europe and the west coasts of Italy and France. He was advanced to full Colonelcy in May of 1944.

The 38th Group returned to the States in January of 1945 for re-equipping with A-26 bombers before going back to combat on the Pacific fronts. At this time he had flown a total of 91 combat missions in B-25 and B-26 bombers.

By May of 1945 the Group was operating from a base at Okinawa and Colonel Holzapple was credited with participation in eight more missions. After Hiroshima the group was disbanded and the Colonel again returned to the States with a combat record of 99 missions during campaigns at Tunisia, Sicilly, Rome-Arno, Naples-Foggia, South France, the Northern Appenines, Japan, China and the Ryukus.

Upon returning from the Pacific, he married fellow alumna and home towner Lois M. Miller, and took her with him to his next duty in the Requirements Division of the Directorate of Operations on the Air Staff at the Pentagon. In 1949, two and a half years later, he attended the Air Force Staff College in Norfolk, Virginia, as a member of Course 6 which graduated in January, 1950.

Returning to the Air Staff, he was assigned to the Weapons Development Branch of the Special Weapons Project. In September of 1951, Colonel Holzapple was re-assigned to Air Research and Development Command and served all over the world as a co-ordinator of technical and operational functions while carrying the title of special Assistant for Operational Readiness.

Leaving A.R.D.C. in 1954, Colonel Holzapple attended the National War College in Washington, D.C., where he received orders assigning him to the command position of the 47th Bombardment Wing just prior to his June, 1955, graduation. Shortly after returning to England to duties in his new command position, he was promoted to the rank of Brigadier General, effective 1 September, 1955.

A Senior Pilot who is actively flying the primary mission B-45 jet bombers of his Wing, General Holzapple has been awarded the Legion of Merit, the Distinguished Flying Cross with one Oak Leaf Cluster, the Silver Star, the Croix de Guerre with Silver Star, the Croix de Guerre Avec Palme, the British Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with 18 Clusters.

ROUNDUP 1955 .

A year of change

January 1955 dawned bright, cold and normal for the men of Brigadier General John D. Stevenson's 49th Division and Colonel David M. Jones' 47th Bomb Wing at Sculthorpe with little in it to herald the changes which would take place this year.

Throughout the month the base basketballers clung tenaciously to their Eastern Division lead by a half game margin while in another part of the sports picture the base's roller hockey team suffered its first defeat from a seasoned Lowestoft team.

The fire laddies got an off-base workout along with Air Policemen who answered an alarm at the nearby farm of Mr. F. R. Allingham. Three of the AP's, Lt Williamson and Sgts Spinks and Freeman removed oxygen bottles from the blazing building to avert threats of an explosion while their buddies evacuated livestock, tractors and trucks from the flames.

Other highlights of the month include the accomplishment of 10,000 operational hours of the 1245th AACS' GCA unit without a major breakdown; the graduation of 47th Field Maintenance Squadron's Airmen Daily and Radcliff from an Army Small Arms Repair course at the USAREUR Ordnance School in Fuessen Germany.

The spirit of giving wasn't dampened by the seasonably cold weather and a short-handed base contributed a startling $3807 to the March of Dimes drive to come within $119 of the previous years collections. They won an award for the 47th Wing late in the year for this drive. The 19th Tactical Reconnaisance Squadron led the list of contributors by donating $600.

Airmen Wilkins, O'Gara, Coyne, Swindell, Falkner and Kneib of the 85th Bomb Squadron won out in the intra-tactical squadron competition for the title of first 1955 Crew of the Month.

Sculthorpians were out for blood as February arrived, and gave 343 pints to the visiting mobile collection team to over-subscribe the quota by 43 pints. Again they gave and they got. New re-enlistment bonuses were causing base personnel to reup at twice the USAFE rate according to T/Sgt. Palumbo who was the special Air Force saleman involved.

On the Sports side, the 47th Air Police quintet copped the title of Champ in the base squadrons basketball league while the base's Bombers slipped out of their half game lead to wind up in 2nd place in the U.K. Conference's Eastern Division as the season closed for the travelling hoopsters.

Outstanding scholar awards were well distributed when the base management course ended and six statues of airmen called SAMs (Savers of American Money) were awarded to an equal number of Sergeants. The winners were: M/Sgt. Smith (86th Bomb Sq.), S/Sgt. Lee (47th Supply), T/Sgt. Kahl (85th Bomb Sq.), S/Sgt. Lubbinge (47th Tac Hospital), T/Sgt. Corff (1245th AACS) and M/Sgt. Malmstrom (Hq., Air Base Gp.).

Weather couldn't stop the rendering of conventional honors however and on the 26th the base fell out to a man to parade in a review to say goodbye to an old and beloved friend as Brigadier General John D. Stevenson surrendered his command position to the capable replacement person of Brigadier General James F. Whisenand.

March came in like a lamb . . . for a few hours, but new arrivals appearing to replace the FIGMO team (Forget It, I've Got My Orders) couldn't tell the difference as acclimated and home bound yanks told them it was balmy . . . the new arrivals accepted the word in a different way and with a different application.

New faces began appearing everywhere as the big turnover of 1955 got into high gear and never were welcomes more genuine . . . now old timers could safely count on early departure.

The base Supply and Material folk got a big pat on the back from Major General Roscoe C. Wilson for their improvements over the preceding two years.

Fund drives still dominated a part of the picture with the Heart Fund collecting $454.90 for the biggest U.K. contribution. The 84th Bomb Squadron's $135.00 helped lots. The American Red Cross in its annual drive got assistance from even the Airmen's Retreat Service Club where a cake and pie auction netted an additional $43.00 toward the $2904.65 base total which earned Sculthorpe a letter of thanks for setting a new per capita high in the European Theater.

The Base Chapel hosted Reverend Harold C. Bonell of Geneva, Switzerland, during his six day Protestant preaching mission and also Reverend John J. Toth, a member of the English Speaking Province of the Society of Jesus in Canada who conducted a six-day long mission for Sculthorpe's Catholic personnel.

The Golf season opened with Sculthorpe's team of Capt. Paul Brooks, Lt. Joe Golden, Capt. O. K. Jolley, Capt. J. R. Stoner, A/2C. Joe Zegarski and Capt. James Baldridge trimming Bentwaters 21 to 6.

Spring arrived on the 21st day of the month . . . according to newspaper and radio reports from London.

April meant warmer weather was due — overdue, said the new members; but it also meant showers and Easter. The base newspaper observing the customs, the date and its 1st birthday changed appearance from a tabloid to a letterpress magazine.

The Airmen's Retreat Service Club conducted the base-level climinations in the USAFE Talent contest where Communications Squadron's Don Marrapese topped the solo singing contests and Air Base Group Headquarter's comical billeting specialist got the nod as a EmCee. Both went on to take the finals later in the year.

Golfers got a good workout as the carried-over 1954 team drubbed Woodbridge at the King's Lynn course by a score of 22-1/2 to 4-1/2 with Capt. Paul Brooks and Airman Joe Zegarski turning in the power demonstrations. Base golfers got a chance to demonstrate their prowess and win berths on the 1955 team in a 54 hole medal tourney at the King's Lynn course in mid-April.

A maintenance crew of the 85th kept their plane airborne for a record setting 78 hours during March and they, S/Sgt. Barty, Airmen Reagan, Sheasley, Wilkins and Long were announced as Crew of the Month for March. A 19th Tactical Reconnaisance officer, Lt. O. J. Nasby, Jr., collected a Distinguished Flying Cross during the base parade and review.

Personalities in passing: West Point's Class of '41 graduate and now full Colonel John F. Harris, accompanied by family, gave up a plush berth at USAFE to take over the reins of the 47th Air Base Group. An era ended with the departure of Chaplain (Captain) R. B. Adams and the firmament of East Anglia seemed less bright with the loss of this beloved catholic priest.

Oh Yes — Bridget got her picture published and won new laurels and plaudits as she became everybody's "something or other" girl.

Members of the drill team out of the Air Police squadron did a wonderful job of community relations by helping nearby Fakenham's Chamber of Trade observe Shoppers' Week in that town. Their show stopping exhibition of military marching and silent drill strongly impressed the local population. Participation in the reopening of Fakenham's Agricultural Show after a long layoff brought credit to Project Officer Major John Fedonchuk, of Wing, and participants of the Mobile Training Detachment, the 47th Communications Squadron and an Army crew from Langham.

May was the month in which Lt. Charles Damratoski, O.I.C. of the Base Motor Pool, distributed 54 driving safety awards to the base personnel whose job it is to maneuver the big military vehicles around on Norfolk's narrow and tortuous highways and byways.

Base supply noted the month by processing its 100,000th voucher for the fiscal period. Business was on the boom allright, but personnel shortages continued to be an harassment everywhere. An order issued by Captain Paul Jones of the 47th Food Service Squadron pointed up the shortage as he gave himself 21 additional duty titles.

Sportswise a couple of hot rod drivers in the person of Lt. Donald Sammis of the 86th and Lt. Sydney Dean of Wing Hq. drove an Austin-Healy 100 to win the American Challenge Cup for the second time for Sculthorpe since it was first offered in the London Motor Club's Little Rally of 1954.

Armed Forces Day fell on Saturday the twenty-oneth of May and managed to be dry and sunny from the time of the 1300 opening hour until shortly after the 1700 closing hour. 5000 Norfolk citizens and uncounted military personnel and their dependents took advantage of the change to get a close-up look at the great variety of American and British aircraft and other displays which were available during the holiday.

J stands for June, and Jones, Colonel David M. — Tokyo Raider and proud father of the 47th Wing since its reactivation as a part of the 49th Air Division. Signing out after three years in England the " boss " left a lot of his intangible personality behind to spur on the growth of " his " wing as well as permanizing his memory with the " Black Dragon " award for the tactical squadrons to win.

Before his departure, Colonel Jones saw the final realization of one of his ambitions in the early month opening of a club for Airmen of less than N.C.O. rank . . . believed to be the first such club in England.

Colonel John G. Glover, Deputy Commander, moved into the Wing Command slot on an interim basis pending the arrival of a new commander. Colonel John Harris similarly moved into the Deputy Commander's position to fill out the Wing roster while Major Wright, of 47th Communications, did a similar stunt with the command post of Air Base Group.

Sculthorpe shooters of the Rifle and Pistol teams eked out a win over the visiting Third Battalion of the Royal Norfolk Regiment. Lts. Sammis and Dean took their Austin-Healy out and did it in another race. Competing in a gruelling 175 mile test during the Hunstanton Rally of the Norfolk Sporting Car Club, the driver-navigator combo took class honors for one award and best performance honors for a second prize.

Word from Third had it that once again Sculthorpe's Library placed in the annual 3AF publicity contest and Mrs. Marjorie Rosevear couldn't stop gloating over the $50 second place check. University of Maryland students looked forward to the completion of the mid-summer programs which start in June and Finance looked longingly at Jerry Lewis Yo-Yos as they visualized the job of closing out the end of Fiscal Year 55.

Official confirmation of a June flying record of 108 plus hours for a 19th Tactical Reconnaisance Squadron B-45 came from Hugh Rodman, North American's locally assigned Tech. Rep. Crew who kept old zero-three-five aloft for 8 " Carte Blanche " missions and 75 other hours were Capt. E. W. Schrecengost, Lt. Jim Wold and Lt. Ken Yerg.

July 4th is a big day back home . . but in England the visiting serviceman may be stepping on old-timers' corns when he celebrates an anniversary of the " Colonial uprising of '76 ". Sculthorpe stuck by its import guns however and had barbecues, fairs, and fireworks at the N.C.O. and Officers' Clubs.

Personalities: M/Sgt. George English, 1st T.D. Squadron, came back from the U.S.A.F.E. N.C.O. Academy where he won the Commandant's Award. Lt. T. K. Wallace, hot-rodder with the .22 and .45 calibre pistols, shot his heart out at the Bisley matches, but failed to top the international aces who were in competition . . winding up in one tie for first place

Belated recognition came to 19th Tactical Reconnaisance men, T/Sgt. T. R. Higgins, S/Sgt. Les Davis, A/1C. P. J. O'Leary, L. A. Masakowski, A/2C. M. P. Funderburk, A. J. Danker and A/3C. C. C. Donley, for the ground crew efforts which helped zero-three-five make new records in the air.

Lt. Joe Golden, of the 84th Bomb Squadron, shot a 3-under-par 68 on the opening day of the U.K. Golf Tourney to set a new record on the Greenham Common's course and went on to win 2nd place on the team which later participated in the U.S.A.F.E. Tournament. Captain John R. Stoner, of Wing Headquarters, another golfer, and T/Sgt. Clyde Nuckols, of 49th Division Headquarters, got a two-week trip to summery Louisiana to brief members of the 420th Air Refueling Squadron destined to come to Sculthorpe later in the year.

M/Sgt. Carl Barker proved he was pretty big when his invitation to local fire laddies was accepted and they came from near and far to see how the Sculthorpian fire-fighters do their job.

Captain Nathan James and his Food Service crew made a lot of people happy as they reopened Dining Hall 2 after extensive interior redecoration. University of Maryland's George Martini was happy too when visited by General Beukema and other notables in the school's overseas program.

Base Bowling League winners of the 47th Air Base Group were on deck along with the runner-up teams to collect their trophies from Personnel Chief Lt.-Col. Chester Wysocki. The 603rd Communications folk downed the Base Medics in a two of three game play-off for titular honors as Base Softball Champs.

As August moved onto the calendar pad the intolerable weather conditions sometimes imposed temperatures up into the nineties on suffering Sculthorpians, but hot-headed or not, personnel at Sculthorpe were still re-enlisting at rates which led U.S.A.F.E. efforts.

The arrival of a new family in the person of Colonel Joseph R. Holzapple, wife Louise and daughters Lynn and Nancy, created a great social to-do, he was the new Wing Commander and soon to be promoted to Brigadier-General (on 1 September).

Lt.-Col. Arnold Hull was elected Director of the Sculthorpe Officers' Bridge club which was seeking a franchise in the American Bridge League. Men of the 47th Air Police Squadron were feted at a banquet where they were presented the Team Firing, Overall Appearance and Overall Competition trophies for winning 1st place in the U.K. Air Police Meet here in July.

An Air Force Aid Society raffle was on with a prize of an Austin-Healy " 100 " sports car which so enthused Motor Vehicler A/2C. A. J. Williams that he went right out and bought the winning ticket. A/1C. James Ballenger, of 604th A.C.W.R.O.N. Detachment 5, took a different prize as Airman of the Month for the second time since arriving at Sculthorpe.

Major Dwayne Mengel arrived to take over as the Base Chaplain as Sculthorpians, taking a second look at the newly arrived 55th Fighter-Bomber Squadron's weirdly painted Austin began to hie themselves to the chapel fearing Armageddon.

Little League fans however got a surprise out of the top notch performance of the Sculthorpe team in its first game of the year victory over Lakenheath by an astounding 13–3 behind the stalwart pitching arm of George Reich and the strong batting of such players as Steve Bokun and Tim Schofield.

Lt. Joe Golden, Sculthorpe's gilt-edged golf sensation, took 5th place in the U.S.A.F.E. Tournament and was placed 9th in a field of 65 of the top Air Force Golfers competing for the Williams Memorial Trophy in Virginia.

Blood donors lined up again when the mobile collection unit revisited Sculthorpe and contributed 295 pints to lead all U.K. based American elements in 1955 contributions.

G.C.A. men of the 1245th Airways and Air Communications Squadron set new records by completing 20 months of uninterrupted round-the-clock operations. In their 15,000 non-stop hours they gave more than 25,000 G.D.C. runs and assists.

On September 1st, Colonel Joseph R. Holzapple, the Wing Commander, assumed the new rank of Brigadier-General. After a short " pinning-on " ceremony at Sculthorpe, he flew to Alconbury to land the first B-45 on the airstrip recently completed there and joined in celebrations covering both the first stage dispersal of the 86th Bomb Squadron to that base as well as a review in his honor.

Colonel James B. Baker, Commanding both the 7560th Air Base Group and the Alconbury base, took any hint of chill out of the September air with his warm welcome to the 86th and to the commander of the Wing he'd been attached to as the fiscal year began.

As Lt.-Col. Robert E. Adamina took his men and planes of the 86th to Alconbury, numerous other changes continued to take place as various peoples were reassigned to one or other unit at Sculthorpe's first satellite.

Back at home base in Norfolk, things went on as usual with one principal arrival making September noteworthy . . . this was the P.C.S. arrival of the 420th Air Refueling Squadron and its KB-29 Tankairs.

G.C.A.-men of the 1245th A.A.C.S. Detachment went on for bigger and better records by reporting the completion of more than 15,000 hours of continuous operation while providing assistance in over 25,000 G.C.A. runs according to the detachment commander, Major James G. Hall, Jr.

Proving that it wasn't " luck " as charged, the Sculthorpe Little Leaguers went back to Lakenheath for their second and last baseball game of the season to repeat their victory over that highly touted nine — this time by a margin of 11–5.

The Bombers' football squad inauspiciously opened their league play on Saturday afternoons to the tune of a 40–0 drubbing at the hands of the Wethersfield Raiders. Roller Hockey was underway with Sculthorpe's Raiders being taken by Lowestoft on the short end of a 5–4 final.

Mr. Donald Frizzell, Principal of the Base Dependents School, harrassed by the near opening date, finally breathed a sigh of relief as nineteen teachers made their appearance by the beginning of the month.

In the children's department again, Base hospital officials revealed an initial enrollment of 200 for Polio shots.

The men of Sculthorpe, and their ladies, gave a boost to the Fakenham Town Recreation Hall Fund by aiding and assisting the townsfolk in their fete in that city. S/Sgt. Joseph McPhee, of Air Base Headquarters, and the Personnel Service Office was the principal attraction in his Bingo marquee.

Music lovers got a taste of the traditional when the Glasgow pipe band of the 445th A.A. Regiment in Scotland made an afternoon appearance on the grounds in front of the N.C.O. Club.

Football fans finally got a taste of victory as the Base team broke its hoodoo and emerged on top of Molesworth by a 19–0 margin.

Influenza shots were the order of the day as October began its parade of frost and color across the flora of Sculthorpe. That Christmas wasn't too far away was emphasized when General Holzapple joined Captain Martin at the local A.F.E.X. outlet to cut the ribbon on the door leading to the holiday displays.

Lieutenant (now Captain) Harry J. Byer left his 84th Bomb Squadron B-45 commander slot to become the snappiest dresser on the base as he donned the extra insigne and white shoulder cord of the General's aide.

Motorcycle drivers got the word for a mandatory vehicle checkup by Captain George Seitzer and the members of his base motorcycle club.

Topping off a week of "hot" activity which rated them enough publicity to end up 19th in world-wide Fire Prevention Week publicity contests, the base firefighters selected the wife of A/2C. J. R. Edwards, of the 85th Bomb Squadron, to reign over the week's programs as Miss Flame of 1955.

Wives got into the picture again in October when the men and officers of the 1245th A.A.C.S. brought their spouses out to the base for a full day of looking and learning about hubby's very important part as a member of the team both at Sculthorpe and throughout the world.

A/2C Dick Rosenberg, of Air Base Group Headquarters, showed lots of football savvy as he picked the winners in a command-wide (U.K.) military newspaper to nab a cash prize for his astuteness.

Then came November with its wintry winds, traces of snow, Turkey and Armistice holidays.

Lt. Jerome Halsband took over the job of conducting and training an all-volunteer band which began parading around the base to its own accompaniment. Parade days were going to be colder and less drearying. Sculthorpe's football squad took its final loss of the season at the hands of Sealand Seals as they made their first win of the season leaving the Bombers with a final won and loss total of 2–5.

A/1C Sherley Clarke, Jr., felt bad when a buddy in Air Base Headquarters Squadron won a prize in a football contest and in November he too cashed in on his own selections to bring the winners spotlite to Sculthorpe for the second time in three weeks.

Thanksgiving came and went . . . and so did a lot of imported (Irish) turkey. Appetites were contributed by many visiting British youngsters from surrounding orphanages who were feted at the Service Club and at the N.C.O. Dining Hall where 40 airmen acted the part of host.

A social note ended November's activities as Lady Forbes met with the wives of Sculthorpe Officers and N.C.O.s and later with N.C.O.s in an evening program, to seek aid for her London Allied Circle Supporters' Society. The appeal eventually netted a base-wide contribution of just over 61 pounds sterling.

December, as is the custom, contained holidays and leaves galore as special presents to the military. Parties were the order of the day and nearly every unit had separate parties during the month for its own people and a second party for some needy group, usually children, at the many homes in the area.

Biggest thing on the calendar of events in December 1955 was the local actions and plans being made in connection with a U.S.A.F. conducted survey of wings and their composition against workloads — to the end that a reorganization of certain key wings was planned and plotted for early 1956 with the 47th Wing to be one of those converted and thoroughly reorganized.

Along with the internal reorganizational planning, command plans at Third Air Force Headquarters called for the change of Alconbury from a satellite of Sculthorpe to a full status base under Third. This separation of Sculthorpe and Alconbury took place on the last day of the year.
